Mountain Village ,
(population 769) is located on the north bank of the Yukon River, about 20 miles west of St Marys and 470 miles northwest of Anchorage. It is a Yup'ik Eskimo community with traditional subsistence practices and a seasonal economy. The village was a summer fish camp until the opening of a general store in 1908. A Covenant Church missionary school was built that same year. A post office was established in 1923, followed by a salmon saltery in 1956 and a cannery in 1964. All three have ceased operating.
